THE FUTURE

With the continued support of the community, our potential is truly unlimited. From live performance on the stage, there are strategic community partnerships that expand our service to the people of Grand Rapids, we envision a "Center without walls" that is leading the way in how an arts center engages its community.

THE COMMUNITY FOCUS SPACE PROGRAM

The Community Focus Space Program, located on the non-secure side of the Riley Terminal next to baggage carousels in Terminal A and Terminal B, features art by Orange County artists, local community organizations and artists with Orange County ties in solo-style exhibitions. This year-round community art space changes approximately every six weeks. There are also two free-standing cases at each entry to the security screening check point areas in Terminals A, B and C.

FLIGHT OF IDEAS

As part of the Airport Improvement Program, a large scale three-dimensional sculpture, "Flight of Ideas," was installed above the baggage carousels in Riley Terminal C. The sculpture by Beth Nybeck and Dick Jobe is composed of 21 aluminum and Plexiglas birds with wing spans ranging in size from three feet to 14 feet suspended on an "S" shaped structure. The wings of the birds display enlarged portions of multicolor aeronautical charts printed directly on the Plexiglas wing panels.

THE JOHN WAYNE AIRPORT ARTS PROGRAM

Established by the Orange County Board of Supervisors in January 1990, the JWA Arts Program operates under the guidance of the five-member Airport Arts Commission. Appointed by the Board of Supervisors, the Commission members advise and make recommendations to the Airport Director and the Orange County Board of Supervisors regarding the development, finance and administration of the Airport Arts Program.

From inspirational art to our highly anticipated annual Student Art Contest, John Wayne Airport and the Airport Arts Program continue to provide the public with positive experiences through a wide variety of exhibitions featuring themes highlighting the advancement of art and culture in Orange County.
